Policy

1. Student-Initiated Request

- It may only defer or suspend an overseas student's enrolment on the basis of compassionate or compelling circumstances and documentary evidence will be required to support such claim.

Compassionate and/or compelling circumstances may include but not restricted to the following:

- Are generally beyond the control of the overseas student and which have an impact upon the overseas student's course progress or wellbeing. This may include, but not restricted to the following:
 - Serious illness or injury, where a medical certificate is provided that states that the overseas student is unable to attend classes
 - Bereavement of close family members such as parents or grandparents, supported by a death certificate where possible
 - Major political upheaval or natural disaster in the home country requiring emergency travel and this has impacted on the overseas student's studies
 - A traumatic experience, which could include:
 - Involvement in, or witnessing of a serious accident; or
 - Witnessing or being the victim of a serious crime, and this has impacted on the overseas student, supported by police or psychologists' reports
 - Where the college is unable to offer a pre-requisite unit or the overseas student has failed a pre-requisite unit and therefore faces a shortage of relevant units for which they are eligible to enrol.

Professional judgement will be used to assess each case on its individual merits.

- When there is an approval of deferral, suspension or cancellation, it will:
 - Notify the overseas student to seek advice from the Department of Immigration on the potential impact on their visa
 - Report the change to the overseas student's enrolment as per the requirements outlined in section 19 of the ESOS Act.
- It will maintain a record of any decision to defer, suspend or cancel the overseas student's enrolment for two years after the overseas student has ceased to be an accepted student.

2. College-Initiated Request

- It may only suspend or cancel an overseas student's enrolment on the following basis (inclusive but not limited to the following):
 - Misbehaviour by the student
 - Failure to pay tuition and non-tuition fees as stated in the offer letter and written agreement.
 - A breach of course progress or attendance requirements as set out in Standard 8 (overseas student visa requirements)
 - When fraudulent evidence or documents are provided to the college.
 - There are reasons other than compassionate or compelling circumstances.
- Prior to imposing a suspension or cancellation initiated by the college, it will:
 - Notify the overseas student in writing of its intention and the reasons for doing so
 - Inform the overseas student of their right to dispute by accessing the college's internal complaints and appeals process within 20 working days
- The suspension or cancellation of the overseas student's enrolment will not take effect until the internal appeals process is completed unless the overseas student's health or wellbeing, or the wellbeing of others, is likely to be at risk. Circumstances may include:
 - The overseas student refuses to maintain their approved care arrangements if they are under 18 years of age.
 - The overseas student is missing
 - The overseas student has medical concerns, severe depression or psychological issues which lead the college to fear for the overseas student's wellbeing.
 - The overseas student has engaged or threatened to engage in behaviour that is reasonably believed to endanger the overseas student or others
 - The overseas student is at risk of committing a criminal offence.

Evidence of any of the above will be retained by the college.

- When there is an approval of deferral, suspension or cancellation, it will:
 - Notify the overseas student to seek advice from the Department of Immigration on the potential impact on their visa
 - Report the change to the overseas student's enrolment as per the requirements outlined in section 19 of the ESOS Act.

- It will maintain a record of any decision to defer, suspend or cancel the overseas student's enrolment for two years after the overseas student has ceased to be an accepted student.

Procedure

Student-initiated deferrals, suspension or cancellation before course commencement	Responsible Person
